January 2018 Newsletter

Themes: This month we will be learning about winter. All of our projects will be about snow, snowmen, and winter clothes.

Colors: Blue and White Shape: Rectangle

No School on January 15th, Martin Luther King Day.

Special Date: January 8th and 9th we will have our nursery school photographer come to take class and individual photos at no obligation. He has been our photographer for over 30 years and takes awesome pictures. He takes the extra time to play with the children and get them comfortable with him beforehand. These will probably be the best school photos you will ever have taken of your child. Information will be sent home.

SNOW/ICE STORMS/ Nursery School Cancellations: When you hear local radio or television stations announce that Glastonbury Public Schools are cancelled or delayed, we will do the same thing. Otherwise, you will receive an email from me. If you are still unsure you may call the school to see if we are there.

Lunch Bunch: Helpful hints as you prepare lunches; please remember no popcorn as that is a choking hazard, please cut grapes, and no water bottles as they tend to get knocked over and cause a minor flood. Juice boxes and thermoses work best.

SEPTEMBER 2018 REGISTRATION - At this time, all children returning in the fall, and any siblings joining us, should be signed up for next year. If you know anyone interested in next year's classes we have limited spaces available for 3 or 4 year olds.

Book Club ordering: You may order books two different ways. Either order on line or you may send the order form back in to the nursery school with a check. Either way is fine. To order on line here is the website. scholastic.com/readingclub
